The work breakdown structure is shown coded in a hierarchy.

We had some small controversy over the cleaning work. Our team pointed out the cleaning involves a large proportion of routine work, but it is essential for the stage play, especially between shows when we would have to clean the stage and switch part of the scenery or background. However, we finally decided that it is not significant enough to be an individual work package, and we decided that it would be merged into site works to form the work package 1.1.1.2 Disassembly and clean up.
